General Information
The Evangelische Hochschule Berlin” (EHB) is a Protestant University of Applied Sciences, which was founded in 1971. It received state recognition on February 17th, 1972. It is an institution maintained by the Protestant Church in Berlin-Brandenburg-schlesische Oberlausitz. The tradition of EHB goes back to the oldest church-supported educational institution in the field of Social Work in Germany, since 1904. Part of the EHB’s self conception is the examination of the Christian idea of man.

Degree Programmes
Through scientifically based applied teaching and research EHB provides academic training in eight degree programmes:

- Social Work (B. A.)
- Early Education (B. A.)
- Nursing (B. Sc.)
- Nursing Management (B. A.)
- Protestant Religious Education (B. A.)
- Midwifery (B. Sc.)
- Management - Education - Diversity (M. A.)
- MRMA - Social Work as a Human Rights Profession (MSW)

The learning of professional competence at the Protestant University of Applied Science Berlin is accompanied by the training of self-reflective, communicative and creative abilities of the students. Through the Protestant character of the institution, students are encouraged to reflect the values and beliefs which guide their professional work.

Members
Currently 50 fulltime professors and approximately 200 part time teaching staff are working at EHB. 1450 students were enrolled in Winter 2017/2018.

Special Offers
EHB offers the post graduate study „Social Work as a Human Rights Profession” in cooperation with Alice Salomon University of Applied Sciences Berlin (ASH), Catholic University of Applied Sciences Berlin (KHSB), Department of Rehabilitation Sciences of Humboldt-University Berlin (HU), Otto von Guericke University Magdeburg– UNESCO-professorship of Human Rights and Institute for Sociology University Basel.

An adjoined Institute of Innovation and Further Education (INIB) offers various courses and in-service-training for professionals who have a college degree.

There are a variety of additional courses, which students can attend voluntarily. Based on interest and inclination students can also achieve additional qualifications in theatre pedagogy and children and youth advocacy.

Research
Research at EHB in the fields of Social Work, Nursing, Nursing Management and Religious Education is represented through the professors in their different fields of expertise; as for example Public Health, Quality Management in Social Institutions, Micro-/Macro Economics Counselling, Group Work, Bi-cultural Families, Gender Studies.

One example is the federal programme “Elternchance ist Kinderchance” (Parental Opportunities Are Childrens’ Opportunities) which is part of the “Qualification Initiative for Germany” and financed by the German Federal Ministry of Family Affairs, Senior Citizens, Women and Youth (BMFSFJ). The federal programme aims to reach parents via family education services and sensitize them towards childhood developmental steps, suitable educational paths and good domestic learning environments.

International Contacts
EHB has co-operation agreements with 53 partner universities in Europe, Africa, South America and Asia. In 2003 a European Network for Social Work Training (EuroNST) was founded, consisting of twelve European partner institutions, aiming for better student and teaching staff mobility in Europe.
